

Chart of Findings and Key Messages

Summarize your findings about the potential sources of information and list key messages about each. Use what you have read from the web sites on this webquest to prepare a chart like the one below. (A few examples have been provided to get you started.) List the type of information that youth want, the benefits of using each source (what they could best provide in terms of information) and the potential barriers that young people might encounter in using these sources. Add ideas for overcoming those barriers and tips on using these sources of information.

Your chart should look something like this.
